* Ambassador status is awarded to patients of each clinic at their discretion. In contrast to the recipient credit, Ambassador credits, worth $100 each, can only be credited to your account at the clinic at which the recipient coupon or referral is claimed. As a patient of an Ambassador plan affiliated clinic you may, as a courtesy, obtain an Ambassador card from any other affiliated clinic by calling or visiting that clinic. No Ambassador credit can be awarded retrospectively. A recipient credit certificate doesn't necessarily have to be presented by your referral for you to obtain your credit, but the source of the referral [you], must be indicated by the recipient, or by you, on or before the first visit in order for you to get credit for the referral. The Ambassador's account will be credited with $100 when the recipient pays for their $400+ service. To insure that you are appropriately credited, a referral coupon should accompany the referral but it is not absolutely necessary for this to happen in order for you to obtain your credit. Be sure to tell your referral to mention your name in order to get your credit. It is a very good idea for you to call the referral clinic with the patients contact info when making a referral to insure that the you are appropriately credited. Your Ambassador credit is not transferrable to other clinics. Only one Ambassador credit can be given on behalf of each new patient referral to each clinic. You may earn credits on multiple Ambassador accounts if your referral becomes a patient of more than one clinic, and you are an Ambassador of those clinics. If the same recipient is referred by multiple Ambassadors or fails to indicate you as the referrer, and the clinic has not been notified in advance by you, the Ambassador indicated by the recipient will prevail and will be credited for the referral.
